AFFIRMED BY SUPREME COURT. Rights of Fraternal Beneficiary Societies Defined.

cieties Defined.

kepublic special.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 12—To-day in Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court a ruling of much interest was made by Judge Valliant in the case of Veronica Franta et al. vs. Bohemian Roman Catholic Central Union of the United States of America. which is a suit appealed from Bt. Louis City. Plaintiffs are the minor children of Peter Franta, deceased, and sued to recover on a benefit certificate for $1,000, held by him in defendant company, a fraternal organization. A requirement of membership in the organization is that one shall be a Roman Catholic and perform his duties as required by that church, and one of those duties is to go to confersion and receive the holy sacrament during Easter time. Failing in these duties, a member was no longer entitled to the benefits of the order. The plaintiffs father falled in his religious obligations and was suspended from membership. He died shortly thereafter, and this suit was brought to recover on the benefit certificate. The question in the case is whether persons of any religious denomination may form a corporation under the Missouri statutes in reference to fraternal beneficiary societies, and by its laws limit membership to persons of a particular religious faith. Judge Valliant holds that they may do so, and says that such societies do not come in conflict with section 5 of the bill of rights, which declares that "all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their conscience," etc.
